About BECU: As a member-owned, not-for-profit, financial cooperative with more than 1.28 million members, BECU is guided by the credit union philosophy of “people helping people.” Founded more than 85 years ago, BECU has grown to include members from across Washington state, 11 counties in western Oregon and 10 in northern Idaho, in addition to Boeing employees and their families wherever they live, such as South Carolina.

BECU does not have stockholders. Profits are returned to its members in the form of better rates and fewer fees, which totaled a return of over $372.1 million (an average of $294 per member) to its members in 2020. Decisions are based upon what is best for its membership. The credit union is committed to empowering its members to reach their financial goals and to making the communities in which they reside a better place. As part of that commitment, BECU donated $6.4 million last year with its local communities through philanthropic giving and community programs.

Today, BECU is the third largest credit union in the United States with nearly $26.8 billion in assets, more than 1.28 million members, 50+ branches and more than 245 ATM locations.
