

SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 2017 – 5 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Rain and thunderstorms from 11 PM last night to 4:30 AM this morning produced 0.91 inches of rain at Erin Hills. We'll see the area of rain push off to our south and east this morning, and brightening skies as the morning wears on, but still a slight chance for a shower or storm through early afternoon. Winds from the south close to 5 mph this morning will increase out of the southwest by mid to late morning with a few gusts near 15 mph or so around lunchtime. Additional showers and storms will develop along and ahead of a cold front in Iowa and western Wisconsin this afternoon and track southeast very close to our area tonight. Therefore we'll have a 40 percent chance of a shower or storm from 2:30 PM on and a 60 percent chance as we head through 7 PM into tonight. Sunday will be cooler and less humid with some sun giving way to clouds and a 40 percent chance for an instability shower/sprinkle in the afternoon. Winds from the west to northwest will average 15 mph Sunday with some gusts around 25 mph from mid-morning on.
