

SUNDAY, AUGUST 27, 2017 – 6:15 AM WEATHER FORECAST

A grand total of 1.25 inches of rain fell with this past weather system. Low clouds and drizzle kept storms from being a factor here late yesterday. Some drier air has worked its way into our region from the northwest during the overnight, but I still think we could see scattered showers and storms late this afternoon and evening, mainly from 5 PM to 10 PM. Overall this upcoming week is characterized with mostly sunny skies along with warming temperatures. After a high temperature today in the lower 70s, we will climb to near 80 the last couple days of our championship. Winds will be from the northwest today at 6 to 12 mph, and from the north-northeast tomorrow at 5 to 10 mph. I have shifted the scattered afternoon showers and storms from Thursday to Wednesday, but it's only a 30%. Fog remains a possibility for late Tuesday night/early Wednesday morning, but I doubt it will impact play. Overnight lows near 60 degrees the next several nights.
