

SUNDAY, AUGUST 12, 2018 – 6:45 AM WEATHER FORECAST

There's a bit of fog around to start your morning, but the fog's fast fleeting, and it should be dissipated by 7:30 AM. I doubt it will impact play. Otherwise, look for mostly sunny skies with a high temperature here of 89 degrees. By late afternoon, some scattered showers and storms will try to form, but I think they'll stay east of us. With dew points in the upper 60s, it's still humid, but better than when we had dew points in the lower 70s a couple of days ago. Winds start out calm this morning, then become light from the northwest. By afternoon, expect a north-northwest wind at mainly 4 to 8 mph. For those still in town after our championship concludes, continued mostly sunny and hot Monday and Tuesday, with scattered showers and storms by late in the day Tuesday. Showers and storms become more numerous Wednesday through Friday. Wind speeds are fairly tame all this week with most afternoons in the 5 to 10 mph range.
