

FRIDAY, JULY 16, 2021 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Today will feature more intense sunshine, haze and heat! In fact, today may be the hottest day of the week so far, or at the very least give our hottest day so far on Tuesday earlier this week a tie score! Once again, hydration and electrolytes cannot be emphasized enough, as the Heat Index will quickly look to exceed 100F for a real feel temp after 12pm. Beyond the early part of the day, the atmosphere once again looks relatively stable so any chance for a late afternoon shower or storm will be minimized to 20% or less. There could be a stray shower or two overnight, but our best chance for rain or thunder by far at this point comes on Saturday afternoon, primarily after 2pm with a front pushing in towards Maryland from the northwest. With luck, this timing will allow us to just complete the Championship before the real weather arrives Saturday evening. Winds will remain quite minimal today, but will also increase as we push past midday Saturday. Good luck out there today and stay hydrated!
