

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16th, 2021 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

We received right at 3.40" inches of rain yesterday before midnight and were on pace to continue to dry out prior to the storm that went through at 4:30 AM this morning that dumped an additional 1.20" of rain and threw out 7 strikes over the course of 40 minutes. The good news is that models have us drying out the rest of the day with a slight chance of afternoon showers and storms taking place between 3 - 5 PM this afternoon. Temperatures will once again start out in the mid 70s this morning warming into the upper 70s under mostly cloudy skies before then topping out in the low 80s this afternoon. With the movement of the low pressure to our west winds today will start out of the southeast light this morning before shifting over to the south just before noon and stay there through the evening Thursday.
