

SUNDAY, JUNE 5, 2022 – 5 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Enjoy the beautiful weather today as temperatures are starting off this morning close to 60 degrees under clear skies and plentiful sunshine this morning will aid in warming us up nicely into the middle 80s this afternoon. Some high clouds will drift in from the west later on this morning, but overall we'll stay mostly sunny during the afternoon hours as the humidity will be super low today with dewpoints dropping through the 50s and spending some time in the 40s midday. Light winds early will pick mid and late morning out of the east and northeast getting up into the 6-12 mph range by lunchtime into this afternoon. Also expect some gusts between 12-18 mph across the more open spots on the course as today should end up being the breeziest of the Championship. Lows tonight will be around 60 degrees once again and could even slip into the 50s depending on if we have any clouds coming in late to blanket us. Then on Monday look for another pleasant day as high pressure begins to retreat allowing some more clouds to mix with our sunshine. Highs tomorrow will be in the middle 80s again with lighter winds shifting from the northeast to the southeast bringing a little more humidity back.
