

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1st, 2022 – 8 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Wow, what a spectacular finish to the U.S. Senior Amateur here at The Kittansett Club. Noticeably cooler and refreshing this morning with bright and sunny skies quickly taking place. Winds are still breezing in the mid to upper teens and will follow the same trend as yesterday, gusting in the low 20s this afternoon. Much drier air has ushered in and will continue to do so with dew points sliding into the 50s at some point later today. Today's high temperature will once again try for the low 80s, before the westerly flow ramps back up. Other than a handful of clouds filtering in the afternoon, expect dry conditions through the remainder of the day and a clearing overnight into Friday. Temperatures will be a couple degrees cooler than today as this northwesterly flow sets in through Friday morning. Look out for a few more pesky bugs/gnats flying around with wind speeds weakening in comparison to the past few days, otherwise another phenomenal and clear day in store.
