Sam Bennett Wins the 2022 Championship

Nobody would have questioned Sam Bennett had he chosen not to return to Texas A&M University for a fifth year of eligibility. An All-American who finished tied for 49th in this year's U.S. Open, Bennett had all of the recommended credentials to enter the play-for-pay ranks.

But he didn't feel the timing was right. He wanted to graduate. He wanted to mature a bit more, and he enjoys being around his Aggie teammates. That explains why he chose to stick around College Station, Texas, this summer after the Arnold Palmer Cup in early July rather than chase titles on the summer amateur circuit.

Turns out to have been a great decision.

Bennett, the No. 3 player in the World Amateur Golf Ranking®/WAGR®, capped off a brilliant week in the 122nd U.S. Amateur Championship at The Ridgewood Country Club with a hard-fought, 1-up victory over Georgia Southern fifth-year senior Ben Carr in Sunday's 36-hole championship match. The 22-year-old who grew up on a nine-hole course in Madisonville, Texas, joins the likes of Bob Jones, Jack Nicklaus, Phil Mickelson and Tiger Woods on the Havemeyer Trophy.

Bennett was already exempt into next year's U.S. Open at The Los Angeles Country by reaching the title match, but by winning, he can play as a professional, something he said he plans to do after the NCAA Championships in Arizona next spring.

"It means everything," said Bennett, who had Texas A&M coach Brian Kortan on his bag. "It's a dream come true. It doesn't even feel real looking at all these people on the 18th green at Ridgewood. I don't even know what I'm saying right now. But it means a lot to hold that trophy. I'm sure tonight I'll take a peek at all the names, but I know Tiger Woods' name is on it three times, and to put my name beside him, I know it's something pretty special."

Bennett's daunting road to the championship match was well documented, as he played the Nos. 13, 27, 10, 9 and 8 players in the WAGR to set up the match with No. 70 Carr, his lowest-ranked opponent. Although Bennett built as much as a 5-up lead, Carr's indefatigable spirit made sure this would not be a runaway victory.

Two 60-foot-plus birdies on the 23rd and 24th holes – a putt and a chip-in – helped spur a rally and charged up the gallery of some 2,000 spectators, many rooting for the underdog.

"I started to climb back into the match the second 18," said Carr, of Columbus, Ga. "I was playing solidly and was able to get a couple holes off of him. But even when it looked like we might eventually go into extra holes, he just looked so calm. I mean, I don't think either of us were honestly too nervous all day. This is the calmest I've been all week."

Carr missed a golden chance to win the par-5 31st hole when Bennett hit his second shot out of bounds to the left of the green. Carr shockingly followed Bennett by sending his own second shot OB, leading to a pair of double-bogey 6s. One hole later, Bennett, holding a 3-up lead, lipped out a 2½-foot par putt that trimmed his margin to 2 up.

Roars went up again from Carr's gallery when he rolled in a 14-foot birdie putt on the par-5 35th hole before Bennett missed from 12 feet to force the match to the 36th hole.

On the 464-yard par 4, Bennett found the fairway after Carr flared his tee shot into the right rough. A day earlier in the semis, Bennett hit one of his best approach shots of the week – one that led to a club twirl – to defeat Dylan Menante, and he came up with another on Sunday. At first, he thought his 8-iron from 168 yards was too far left. But the ball found the left side of the green, leaving a 15-foot birdie putt.

Carr's approach trickled over the green into the thick rough, and likely needing a miracle hole-out to force extra holes, he left the shot 12 feet short of the flagstick. Needing only to two-putt, Bennett coaxed his ball to within inches of the hole. Hats came off and the two shared an emotional embrace.

"He wanted to be more mature so that he could handle the stage that he was going to move on to, and genuinely he wanted to play as a Texas Aggie for another year because he knows when he leaves it's all about him," said Kortan. "He doesn't have a buddy to pick him up. He'll be in the world where ... your buddies are going to wish you played better but everybody else is going to wish you played worse so they can beat you. He likes playing on the team. He's been a team guy. He wants to be part of that."

While the players hail from different parts of the country, they shared a bond on Sunday as each lost his father in the past three years; Carr lost his father, David, in 2019, and Bennett's father, Mark, died in 2021. The last thing Mark wrote to his son was "Don't wait to do something," a phrase Sam tattooed on his left arm. Several times down the stretch, he looked at that tattoo for inspiration.

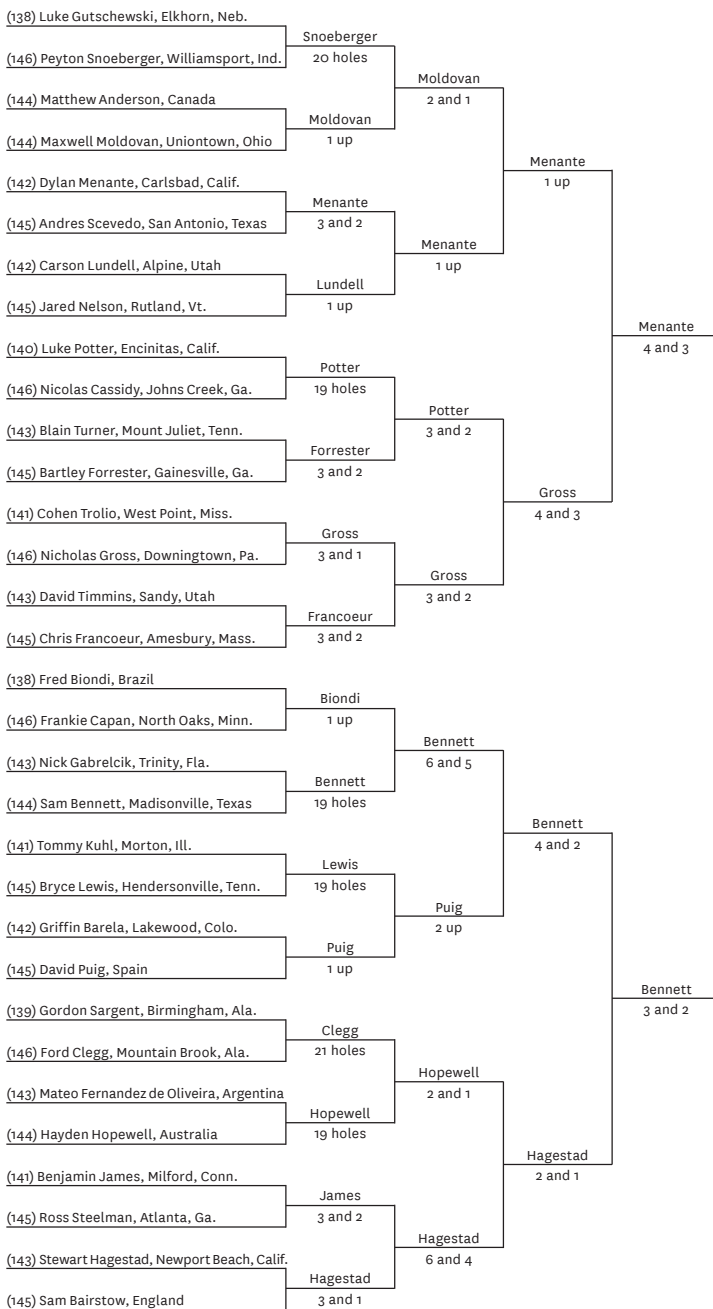

Bennett took a 3-up lead after the morning 18, shooting the equivalent of 3-under 68 – with concessions – to Carr's 72.

It was shortly after the lunch break that Bennett realized that he was playing in front of a pro-Carr gallery. But he decided to use that to his advantage.

"I was like, this is exactly what I want," said Bennett. "Just to play and try to hush the crowd a little bit. It kind of added pressure to him because everybody was rooting for him so hard. So I think that made it a little tougher for him, as well."

Championship History

The U.S. Amateur Championship is the oldest USGA championship and it was created in 1895 because of a controversy. In 1894, two clubs -- Newport (R.I.) Golf Club and New York's St. Andrew's Golf Club -- had conducted invitational tournaments to attract the nation's top amateur players.

Both clubs proclaimed their winners as the national champion, while Charles Blair Macdonald, a prominent player and course architect, was the runner-up in both.

Before the final day of the St. Andrew's tournament, it was announced that an association composed of all the clubs in the United States would be formed in the ensuing months. This new national governing body would oversee a universally recognized championship and create a written set of rules.

With that, representatives from Newport Golf Club, St. Andrew's Golf Club, The Country Club in Brookline, Mass., Shinnecock Hills Golf Club in Southampton, N.Y., and Chicago Golf Club founded the USGA on Dec. 22, 1894, and the inaugural U.S. Amateur Championship was conducted the following year, along with the U.S. Open and U.S. Women's Amateur.

The Amateur and Open Championships were conducted at Newport Golf Club during the same week of October and Macdonald became the first U.S. Amateur champion.

The Amateur Championship is the oldest golf championship in this country — one day older than the U.S. Open. Except for an eight-year period from 1965-1972, when it was stroke play, the Amateur has been a match-play championship.

Over the years, as interest in the game grew and the number of quality players increased, it became necessary to establish a national handicapping system to determine who was eligible to compete in the Amateur. The USGA's first national handicap list, which was published for the 1912 championship, was the forerunner of the present-day USGA Handicap System.

Throughout its history, the U.S. Amateur has been the most coveted of all amateur titles. Many of the great names of professional golf, such as Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Lanny Wadkins, Craig Stadler, Jerry Pate, Mark O'Meara, Hal Sutton, Phil Mickelson and Tiger Woods, grace the Havemeyer Trophy.

It was, however, longtime amateur Robert T. Jones Jr. who first attracted media coverage and spectator attendance at the Amateur Championship. Jones captured the championship five times (1924, 1925, 1927, 1928, 1930). His 1930 victory was a stunning moment in golf history when, at Merion Cricket Club in Ardmore, Pa., Jones rounded out the Grand Slam, winning the four major American and British championships in one year.

Sixty-six years later, in 1996, Tiger Woods attracted similar interest and enthusiasm when he won a record third consecutive U.S. Amateur at Pumpkin Ridge Golf Club in North Plains, Ore. In 1994, Woods, at 18, had first entered the record book as the youngest ever to win the Amateur Championship. In 1996, he broke yet another record when he won, having registered 18 consecutive match-play victories.

International players also have made a major impact in the last two decades, with Nick Flanagan (Australia, 2003), Edoardo Molinari (Italy, 2005), Richie Ramsay (Scotland, 2006), Danny Lee (New Zealand, 2008), Byeong-Hun An (Republic of Korea, 2009), Matthew Fitzpatrick (England, 2013), Gunn Yang (Republic of Korea, 2014), Curtis Luck (Australia, 2016) and Viktor Hovland (Norway, 2018) taking the title.

In 2020, the U.S. Amateur was conducted during the COVID-19 pandemic. Due to health and safety protocols, qualifying was canceled. The field was all-exempt and the number of players was reduced to 264.
