Bryan Kim Wins the 2023 Championship

Incoming Duke University freshman Bryan Kim became the second Blue Devil to win the U.S. Junior Amateur Championship with his 2-up victory over Joshua Bai in the weather-delayed 36-hole final at Daniel Island Club's Ralston Creek Course, in Charleston, S.C.

Kim, 18, of Brookeville, Md., joins Jason Widener (1988) as Duke players to etch their name on the U.S. Junior Amateur Trophy that includes the likes of major champions Tiger Woods, Johnny Miller, David Duval, Jordan Spieth, Scottie Scheffler and Brian Harman, this year's Open winner at Royal Birkdale who sent a congratulatory video message to the champion.

"It really hasn't sunk in yet," said Kim, who was playing in his third U.S. Junior Amateur but had not made match play in his previous two. "Especially coming into this week, I hadn't made a cut at a USGA event, but to not only make the cut but win all six of my matches, especially against all these great competitors, it just means the world.

"It's a huge stepping-stone. Just to have my name like right next to those guys, those big guys, it just means if they can do it, I can do it. I'm right on track, so I've just got to keep doing what I'm doing and hopefully I'll get there one day."

The championship match of the 75th edition of the Junior Amateur was extended a day due to multiple storms on Saturday, one of which delayed the start of the final by 3½ hours. Play was eventually halted for the day at 5:36 p.m. EDT with Kim holding a 1-up lead thru 25 holes.

It was the first time in 21 years that the U.S. Junior Amateur finished a day later than scheduled.

After Kim completes his freshman season with the Blue Devils next spring, he'll have a 76-minute drive from campus to Pinehurst Resort & Country Club's Course No. 2 in the Village of Pinehurst for the 2024 U.S. Open, an exemption he receives as winner of the U.S. Junior Amateur.

He's also the lowest-seeded player (No. 52 from stroke play) to win the title since Charlie Beljan (56) in 2002 at the Atlanta Athletic Club, in Johns Creek, Ga.

Both players are exempt into next month's U.S. Amateur at Cherry Hills Country Club in suburban Denver.

Bai, 17, of New Zealand, was hoping for that bid to Pinehurst, where his idol, Michael Campbell, captured the 2005 U.S. Open 10 months before he was born. Danny Lee, a Korean-born player who represents New Zealand, also won the 2008 U.S. Amateur at Pinehurst. Former world No. 1 amateur and professional Lydia Ko remains the last Kiwi to claim a USGA title (2012 U.S. Women's Amateur).

"Just try and take the positives," said Bai of his week in South Carolina. "I played really well. It really boosted my confidence going to tournaments in the future. Just helps me know that I can compete at the top level. Just want to say really congratulations to Bryan. He's a great player and even better person."

More than an inch of rain fell on the property on Saturday, but the maintenance staff, led by superintendent Joey Franco, got the Ralston Creek Course in impeccable condition for the resumption of play for the 8 a.m. restart on Sunday.

Bai, competing in his second U.S. Junior Amateur, wasted no time regaining the lead by winning Nos. 26 and 27, converting from 8 feet for birdie on the former and registering a two-putt par on the latter, a 245-yard, par-3.

Two holes later, Kim tied the match by making a 9-foot birdie and then took a 1-up lead on No. 30 by getting up and down for par. Bai had a chance to tie the hole but lipped out a 5-footer to complete a disappointing three-putt green.

But after the two tied the 31st hole, Kim squared the match with a brilliant 60-degree wedge pitch from rough short and right of the 284-yard, par-4 32nd green to 2 feet for a conceded birdie. Kim was unable to match the 3 after finding a greenside bunker off the tee.

Kim eventually took the lead for good by stuffing a 113-yard gap-wedge approach to 7 feet on the 376-yard, par-4 35th hole. After Bai missed his long birdie try, Kim calmly converted his putt.

"I had a pretty good number," said Kim of the shot. "I just really felt comfortable with those shots all week, those little knock-down wedges. Just hit three good shots, and that's what you need to do to make a birdie. Felt really good."

At the 557-yard, par-5 closing hole, Bai, needing a birdie to force extra holes, went for the green in two with a 3-wood. But he pushed the 250-yard shot well right and sent his third shot over the green. He would eventually concede Kim's birdie and the match.

"Bryan is not going to make anything less than a par," said Bai of his decision on the final hole. "He could even make birdie, so I thought I just had to give it a shot, try and get on the green, have a putt for eagle or get it close [for a birdie chance]."

With the usual match-play concessions, Kim posted a 7-under total of 137 (68-69) on the 7,184-yard, par-72 layout, while Bai registered 4-under 140 (67-73).

Notable - Runner-up Joshua Bai received a silver medal, plus an exemption into the 2023 U.S. Amateur. He also is exempt into the 2024 U.S. Junior Amateur.

Championship History

In 1948, the USGA inaugurated the U.S. Junior Amateur Championship to determine the best junior golfer in the United States and also to help junior golfers learn how to realize the most from the game, win or lose.

The Junior Amateur was hardly the first junior competition to attract a national field. The Western Junior had been established in 1914. In 1946, two more competitions appeared, each with a claim on the national title. One was sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, the other by the Hearst Newspapers.

The first U.S. Junior Amateur was played at the University of Michigan Golf Course and drew 495 entries. The starting field of 128 players was determined by sectional qualifying rounds at 41 sites. Dean Lind, of Rockford, Ill., was the first champion. Lind defeated Ken Venturi, of San Francisco, a future U.S. Open champion, in the final.

By 1963, entries had surged to 2,230, a record for the 13th consecutive year. At the time, there was no handicap limitation for entrants. That changed in 1964 when a handicap limit of 10 strokes was introduced. In 1999, the championship attracted a record 4,508 entries.

In 1978, the USGA conducted the Junior Amateur over the South Course of the Wilmington (Del.) Country Club, while the Girls' Junior was being staged on the North Course. This was the first time the USGA conducted two national championships simultaneously at the same golf club.

The Junior Amateur is among the most difficult of all USGA championships to win due to two factors: the age limit and the tremendous number of fine young players who enter each year. Only one player, Tiger Woods, has won the Junior Amateur three times, winning in 1991, 1992 and 1993. Jordan Spieth, who first won in 2009, became the second player to claim more than one title when he won the 2011 championship. In fact, only seven players have reached the final at least twice: Mason Rudolph (1949, 1950), Eddie Pearce (1968, 1969), Mike Brannan (1971, 1973); Tim Straub (1982, 1983); Woods; Spieth; Jim Liu (2010, 2012); and Noah Goodwin (2016, 2017).

Woods, who was 15 years, 6 months and 28 days old when he won in 1991, was the youngest champion until 2010. At 14 years, 11 months and 15 days, Liu broke Woods' record by more than six months with his victory.

The Junior Amateur has another, more dubious, distinction. It is the only USGA championship for which Jack Nicklaus has been eligible that he did not win at least once. Nicklaus qualified for the championship five times; however, his best finish came in 1956, when he was a semifinalist.

The Junior Amateur remains today an educational opportunity as well as a competitive outlet. Pre-championship players' dinners have attracted guest speakers such as Francis Ouimet, Arnold Palmer, Johnny Miller and Annika Sorenstam, all willing to share their knowledge and experience with young players.

In 2020, the U.S. Junior Amateur was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Aligning with ongoing USGA initiatives to expand support of junior golf, the field size for the U.S. Junior Amateur increased from 156 players to 264, beginning with the 2021 championship at The Country Club of North Carolina.
