AUGUST 7, 2024 - 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Today looks to be sunny, hot and dry. This morning we will be starting out in the low 70s, and a few stray clouds will be hanging out overhead. Our winds will be out of the northeast and strongest this morning at 8 - 12 mph this morning, but as we go into the afternoon our winds will begin to drop to 5 - 8 mph. I know we started off cooler this morning but our high does not care as we still will be around 100 degrees by the afternoon. Our Thursday forecast has improved as our rain and storm chances have dropped to 20% in the afternoon. We will have extra cloud cover though the day, but our high will still be in the upper 90s on Thursday. This weekend the forecast changes from what we have seen so far this week as a cold front will make its way through the area overnight Thursday into Friday morning. This will push our rain chances up on Friday and drop our high to the low 90s for the afternoon. Saturday the rain comes in and our temps drop into the low to mid 80s for the afternoon high. Models are showing up to an 1 inch of rain could fall though the day on Saturday. Overnight Saturday and into Sunday the rain keeps on coming as our rain chances stay at 60% as we go into the afternoon. Once we make it into the afternoon our rain chances drop off just a bit giving way to just a bit of sunshine.
