THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 2024 - 7 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Thursday is starting out a few degrees warmer with light cloud cover acting as a blanket overnight to help avoid such a cold start experienced on Wednesday. This head start will have us in the mid 80s this afternoon here at the course but in the meantime, an abundance of sunshine will quickly warm us into the low 60s as players tee off this morning, heating up quickly into the mid 70 just before 10 AM, continuing up near 80 degrees as we are crowning our champion. Winds, starting off the morning out of the southwest at 3 - 5 mph will increase just before noon as flow starts to transition over to the south as clouds start to form across New England, finishing up back out of the southwest this evening and overnight. As the direction starts to shift and temps warm up, intensity will increase up to 6 - 8 as we play out the last couple of holes, up to 8 - 10 mph this afternoon before tapering off this evening. Look for Friday to be more of the same with a high in the mid 80s under partly cloudy skies and winds remaining from the southwest at 6 - 8 mph, gusting up to 12 mph accompanied by a slight chance of an early evening thunderstorm.
