

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 2024 – 6 AM WEATHER FORECAST

Once again, we will start off the day with some ground fog lifting quickly before 8 AM. Then, we enter another good day for golf. As the day wears on, clouds will be on the increase from the west, foreshadowing a night of atmospheric disruption. Rainfall may arrive as soon as 6 - 7 PM, with greater chances after sunset. Thunder remains a potential with this system in the heavier cells, as we look to pick up 0.10 - 0.50" of rainfall by Sunday morning. Lingering showers are the only threat after daybreak Sunday, with relatively peaceful conditions otherwise. Monday stays dry, before we look to the next disruptive pattern through the heart of match play. Tuesday PM through Thursday AM will have instances of rainfall in the area, but the timing is still scrambled.
