

Stone: "It's been great. We do a lot of zoom calls with our team and coaches, it's great to get more insights into our game. It's super helpful with preparation for championship weeks like this one."

U.S. Amateur Four-Ball

May 16, 2026

Desert Mountain Club, Scottsdale, Ariz.

First Round (Cochise Course)

Kailer Stone & Liam Eyer

Q. How do these courses compare to what you're used to playing in Northern California?

Eyer: "The ball just rolls forever and it's a lot. It's tricky because off the tee you can't miss or you're in the cacti. It's a tough target golf course."

Q: You got off to a fast 5-under start on the front, how important was that momentum going into the afternoon with the changing conditions?

Eyer: "The back nine is really hard so just being able to have a bit of a cushion helped a lot."

Stone: "It was good to get the momentum going early."

Q. Any change in strategy going into Outlaw tomorrow?

Eyer: "Same strategy, hit fairways and greens."

Q: How has being a part of Team Northern California helped you prepare for championships like this one?
