

SUNDAY, MAY 31, 2026 - U.S. WOMEN'S OPEN PRELIMINARY OUTLOOK #4

An abundance of sunshine throughout the day will lead temperatures up into the mid-70s this afternoon producing a picture perfect day here at Riviera. Winds, starting the morning light, will start to increase late this morning from the south settling out of the southwest this afternoon as intensity increases up into the 10 - 14 mph range with gusts approaching 20 mph at times. The marine layer creeps more onshore overnight leaving behind a layer of clouds Monday morning. Clouds won't be much of an issue with the sun breaking through mid-morning allowing skies to clear in the afternoon as temps work back up into the low-70s as winds once again settle out of the southwest during the middle part of the day, lingering there through the evening, blowing in similar intensity to those seen on Sunday.
