Making Memories

350th Anniversary of the Albemarle...

In 1668, four precincts were formed out of the County of the Albemarle, the first governmental unit of what would become North Carolina. These four precincts (now counties) – Currituck, Pasquotank, Perquimans and Chowan – were later subdivided further, giving rise to what we now think of as northeastern North Carolina. Celebrate this founding through a variety of commemorative activities.....

- Roanoke Island Colony.....Lost and Found
- Founding Fathers and Mothers contributions
- Explore the Coastal Albemarle Harbors by boat
 - Albemarle Loop
- Pirates to Peanuts on the 1767 Chowan County Courthouse Green

Preservation becomes new.....

- 2019 is looking at restoration of the former Conger Ice Plant Building
- Location next to the 1886 Roanoke River Lighthouse and Colonial Park
- Easy walking to shops, restaurants, historic sites and the movie theater
- This building proposes to become a Brew Pub
- Future thoughts – outdoor and indoor seating that will include breath-taking views of the Albemarle Sound and sunsets phased in. Stay Tuned.....

Significant Happenings.....Old made New

Civil War...

Harriet Jacobs' escape from slavery via the Maritime Underground Railroad, The Edenton Bell Battery, an artillery unit organized locally using guns cast from the bells of churches and municipal buildings and Occupation of Edenton homes by Union forces such as the 1st New York Mounted Rifles - Edenton/Battle of the Albemarle Sound in Edenton Harbor are part of the North Carolina Civil War Trail. nccivilwar.com

Lighthouse...

Now settled over Edenton Bay, the 1886 Roanoke River Lighthouse was in service until 1941 as a warning signal at the mouth of the Roanoke River and there it stood for 52 years, a marine salvage moved it to Edenton in 1955 and placed it on land at Filbert's Creek. This original one-and-half story screw-pile structure, the last example in the U S, has become a Lightkeeper's interpretive site with daily tours. The Fresnel lens is now on exhibit at Historic Edenton Visitor Center. edentonlighthouse.org

There are many reasons to visit Edenton, its history, culture and beauty are but a few; its people and charm touch you and make you want to stay.
